After much thought about this and conferring with Darron Haddock, I think you should go ahead and transfer the permit, as you will be required to do so sooner or later and when we approve the large mine it will then not become an issue. You will only held to the actual acerage you are working in currently until the LMO is approved. At the nevada star ponds you will have the lab and topsoil pile maybe a 1/2 acre for both) leaving 4 1/2 acres at the concentrator site. Tom See you Thursday or Friday, hopefully!
